

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Acoustica Basic Edition 5 Released

The renowned audio editor Acoustica is now available in a free basic edition. Acoustica Basic Edition for Windows has all the basic editing tools required to get the editing job done and supports VST and DirectX plug-ins as well as ASIO drivers.

Oslo, June 13th 2012 – Acoustica has been mighty strong for years when it comes to recording, editing and restoration of audio recordings. Now, the manufacturer Acon AS has released a free basic version that includes the most frequently used editing tools as well as support for the plug-in formats VST and DirectX and the professional audio driver interface ASIO. ASIO is a multi-channel capable audio transfer protocol that enables real-time sound processing.

Acoustica Basic Edition also supports non-destructive editing and effect chains that allows the user to create complete chains of processing tools, including external plug-ins, and save them along with all the parameter settings for later use.

For Acon AS the release of the free Basic Edition is a response to the needs of many casual users, who have no need for many of the advanced processing tools available in the Standard and Premium Edition. “We have decided to provide the occasional user with a free version of Acoustica containing the basic features as an entry to our audio editing software” says Stian Agedal, Managing Director of Acon AS. Since the basic version is expandable through open plug-in standards, users can integrate even professional tools seamlessly just like building blocks. Thus the users can put together precisely the functions they really need.

Acoustica Basic Edition 5 is now available for free on www.acondigital.com.

Languages

- English, German

Artwork and Screenshots

<http://www.acondigital.com/docs/acoustica5.zip>

About Acon AS

Acon AS is a privately held Norwegian company with a focus on software products and services related to digital signal processing and audio editing. Acon AS acquired the audio editing and processing product line from the German company Acon Digital Media GmbH on January 1st 2012.

Contact

Acon AS
Sørkedalsveien 273
N-0754 Oslo
Norway
saagedal@acondigital.com